Intention

With over 40 years in the touring industry, my passion for organization, communication, and detail-oriented practices has been unwavering. As a Tour Director, Tour Manager, Production Manager, Tour Accountant, and Promoter Rep, I've excelled in maintaining seamless operations and finding balance amidst challenges.

My dedication to new challenges led me to mentorship roles, educating future talents at renowned institutions and contributing insights through podcasts, webinars, and conferences. Balancing structure and creativity has been pivotal for successful ventures throughout my career.

I am eager to contribute my expertise to organizations valuing precision, innovation, and progress. My intention is to channel my passion for organization, communication, and problem-solving into fostering an environment of distinction.

With thanks,

BOB WARD - SAFE AS MILK- UK

"[David '5-1' Norman] is a skilled communicator and due to his broad touring experience is able to deal with the day-to-day issues of touring life with the minimum of drama in a measured and capable manner."

ROB OLDS - DIRECTOR OF GLOBAL TOURING I ROUNDROOM

"[David] is a person who works and lives a life of positivity 1 'can' as opposed to 'can't', and a generous understanding of people his attention to detail is tenacious and is always paired with thorough communication to those that work around him. As a leader David is beyond competent but more that he brings a calming effect to any situation, no matter the circumstances."

AARON WALTON - WALTON ISAACSON

"David joined our team late replacing a tour manager, which makes what he did all the more impressive. He streamlined the process, and drove more efficiency into the production, which allowed the entire organization to operate more effectively. David has a unique ability to gain the confidence of both the artists whom often "live" in a creative environment coupled with the tremendous respect he has from the production team who help bring the creative vision to life. He achieves all of this while also maintaining the fiscal responsibility required for someone holding that position. He is a consensus-builder and is not afraid to make the hard decisions that one faces while producing live events. Perhaps one of the best qualities that I respect most in David, is his integrity and selflessness. Once David was part of our team, I had the utmost confidence in his unwavering commitment to the team goals, and his demonstrated leadership in surpassing our expectations."
